Consortium for Innovative Environments in Learning (CIEL)

The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey has just been accepted as a member of the Consortium for Innovative Environments in Learning (CIEL), a network of distinguished, progressive institutions of higher education whose goal is to advance innovations in student learning.

Faculty members share ideas among faculty in the network, broadening their resources for teaching, curriculum development, assessment, and research. Students present their academic work in the online student journal and at annual symposia; they also participate in exchanges at CIEL member campuses or in study-abroad programs offered through the network.

Read more about CIEL at http://www.cielearn.org/.