Over 1 million people in New Jersey don’t know where their next meal is coming from and more than 80,000 food insecure people live in Atlantic, Cape May and Cumberland counties alone. So what can you do to help? First learn more about it.

Join us for the screening of “A Place at the Table,” a documentary film that raises important questions about food insecurity in America, its economic, social and cultural impact on our nation, and what can be done to resolve this epidemic problem.

The film is about a hour and a half and will be followed by a panel discussion with Ron C. Kollman, Sr., Executive Director of Chef’s With A Mission; Dr. Ron Caro, Assistant Professor of Education and Director of Teacher Training with a Mission School of Education at The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey; and Diane Riley, Director of Advocacy for the Community FoodBank of New Jersey.

We invite you to come and take your place as part of the solution.
