Galloway Township, NJ– The Stockton Performing Arts Center presents The Lettermen on Monday, July 21, as part of the “Rocks the Mainland” concert series at The Atlantic County Institute of Technology (ACIT) auditorium in Mays Landing, NJ.

The Lettermen will perform such memorable hits as “Turn Around, Look At Me,” “Love,” “Theme From A Summer Place” and “When I Fall In Love.” The Lettermen are one of the most romantic singing groups of the 1960s.

Tickets are $37 and may be ordered online at www.stocktonpac.org or by calling the Box Office at (609) 652-9000. The Box Office is open Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Stockton PAC and 90 minutes before the performance at ACIT. Parking is free.

The ACIT Performing Arts Center is a 974-seat, state-of-the-art facility. The theater has all digital controls for the lighting, sound and fly (rigging) systems, as well as a motorized orchestra pit that goes from stage level to the basement. Listening assistance is available for patrons upon request.

"We thought it was time for a little summer fun on the mainland and we're delighted to introduce our friends and neighbors to ACIT's beautiful venue," said Dean Lisa Honaker of Stockton's School of Arts and Humanities.

"We are thrilled to host the Stockton Summer Concert Series at the new ACIT Performing Arts Center," said Superintendent Dr. Philip J. Guenther, of the Atlantic

County Vocational School District. “Our vision for this state-of-the-art facility was to create an exceptional learning environment for our students enrolled in the Academy of Performing Arts and to provide an outstanding venue for Atlantic County residents and visitors to enjoy live performances. The Stockton Summer Concert series is an extraordinary opportunity to achieve these goals.”

Atlantic County Institute of Technology is a high school that offers rewarding hands-on experiences and learning opportunities preparing Atlantic County students for higher education as well as immediate job opportunities. ACIT offers the complete high school experience, with a large curriculum, athletics and an active staff dedicated to its students’ success.

These concerts are the largest event held at the site so far, and are part of the opening of ACIT’s Performing Arts Center, Superintendent Guenther said. The site will be used by students and also for public meetings and performances.

The ACIT center offers free parking, making that more convenient than concerts held in shore towns, said Suzé DiPietro, director of Stockton’s PAC.

DiPietro said the Monday night concerts should be “an economic driver” for the area, since “800 people will be looking around for places to eat” in Mays Landing.

She said the partnership between Stockton and the Atlantic County Institute of Technology “speaks to the college’s mission of reaching out to communities and building relationships.”

Tickets are on sale for the summer concert series. For a list of performances or to purchase tickets, visit Stocktonpac.org. For more information on the Atlantic County Institute of Technology, visit acitech.org.

For our patrons with special needs, the Stockton Performing Arts Center offers wheelchair accessible seating, large type programs, and listening assistive devices. Please identify any needs you may have when making a reservation.

The Stockton Performing Arts Center, the Jersey Shore’s Center for the Arts, is located on the campus of The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey, on Jim Leeds Road in Pomona (Galloway Township). Just 12 miles west of Atlantic City, the Center is easily accessible from the Garden State Parkway and the Atlantic City Expressway.

This program is made possible in part by funds from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, a partner agency of the National Endowment for the Arts and by funds from the National Endowment for the Arts.
