The Master of Business Administration (MBA) program prepares students for professional careers in business. One of the goals of the program is to help students develop critical thinking skills and to provide them with an expanded awareness of the complex political, social and economic environments within which all organizations and individuals must function.

Excellent written and oral presentation skills are needed in this program. The program is geared toward those with business backgrounds and/or those seeking career changes. An accelerated dual degree program leading to a BA-BS and an MBA is also offered that provides students an opportunity to complete an undergraduate and a graduate degree in as little as five years.

Program strengths:
- MBA students at Stockton receive excellent mentorship from full-time faculty and local professionals with extensive experience in their fields and ties to the business community.
- The MBA curriculum effectively blends core courses, electives, research, practice, and internships.
- The School of Business houses the Lloyd D. Levenson Institute of Gaming, Hospitality and Tourism as well as the Small Business Development Center.
- Stockton’s Graduate Student Council is active and provides opportunities that support the professional development of graduate students.
