Achievements and Accolades

Congratulations to Dr. Deb Figart on being nominated as the sole candidate to serve as President-Elect of the Association for Evolutionary Economics. As such, Dr. Figart will advance to the office of President.

Jeanne DelColle and other NJ Teachers of the Year collaborated with Mary Pat Christie on Eureka! Invention & Innovation in NJ at Drumthwacket now through November 19.

Dr. Susan Cydis accompanied two colleagues from the Business School to an Assessment Institute where they presented Stockton’s Essential Learning Outcomes to a national audience of assessment specialists. Dr. Cydis is accepting faculty applications for an ELO Study Group, too.

New arrivals to the School of Education family this year include Brennan Rossell, born to budget office manager, Erin Rossell, Ray Hu, born to Internationalization Specialist JY Zhou, and Aegis Grace, born to Carter and Johnny Quinn, daughter-in-law and son of Dr. John Quinn. Welcome to the School of Education family!
PARCC Updates: Pearson Portal to Practice Tests and Tutorial

The PARCC practice tests have a brand new Pearson-branded portal, complete with tutorial materials, technology set-up guides, manuals and training modules. Still accessible as a link from within the main parcconline.org web site, you can reach the practice tests quickly here.

PARCC itself has been holding a monthly office hour on Twitter, taking questions and responding at #askPARCC. The first session from September has been archived, to be followed by October here.

As the political season reaches a pinnacle, PARCC has been focusing on cementing its assessment on its alignment to the Common Core State Standards. PARCC’s newsletter recently carried highlights of political debates that featured the Common Core, including Gov. Hickenlooper, who defended Colorado’s use of CCSS in a debate against Republican challenger Bob Beauprez in a debate hosted by Politico, rejecting the idea the Standards are dictated by Washington. “We need to know that an ‘A’ in Alamosa is the same as an ‘A’ in Grand Junction and an ‘A’ in Denver,” Hickenlooper said. View the debate here, and another in NYC here.

However the Common Core fares in the polls, however, the PARCC consortium is under intense pressure to retain member states. PARCC has always planned to set per-student pricing based on membership, so the reduction from 26 to 12 plus DC has presented a vexing challenge for the consortium and its remaining members, even as Chicago is urging an Illinois pull-out now, too.

Mark Your Calendars

“On Halloween, the parents sent their kids out looking like me.”
-Rodney Dangerfield

Stockton faculty: please be sure to select your IDEA format (paper or online) by November 5. If you opt for paper, you must also select your objectives at the same link. Remember that Essential objectives are double-weighted in your responses. View the new tutorial for more tips.

If you select online administration (the planet thanks you for saving paper, fuel to ship the forms and time) you will receive an email link to select objectives. To increase online response rates, send your own email messages to students, early and often. For example, on 11/18: You will receive an email through your Stockton account starting tomorrow, and will receive the same one each day until the evaluation is completed—the email will provide a link to the survey.

1. Click on the link
2. Enter your Z#
3. Complete the Survey
I thank you for completing the survey; your feedback is extremely important when considering any revisions to this course and our Program.
SRI & ETTC UPDATE

Call for proposals, exhibits, and early registration are now open for the Annual From My Classroom to Yours conference, south Jersey’s best teacher-to-teacher event. Save the date Wednesday, March 11. In case you missed the last issue of Stockton Now, the College e-zine, check out the article featuring the SRI & ETTC for its professional development on both technology and Common Core, as well as current grant work in the region. Bookmark TechTalk to stay in touch with the latest news, products and services as they are announced. Similarly, What’s New in STEM aggregates it all for you. The SRI&ETTC has public workshops to meet all of your professional development needs, including Edmodo, screencasting, PARCC, Video Production 101, Web 2.0 Photo Editing, Cloud Computing, SmartBoard and more. Visit the SRI&ETTC calendar to register yourself and/or a team of colleagues. For custom workshops, contact the SRI&ETTC at 609-626-3850.

From the Dean's Desk

Dear Friends of our School,

The winds of change continue to blow across the education landscape, and some of these carry words of encouragement about the future. Earlier this week, NEA, AFT, CTQ, NSBA and several other national groups endorsed "A New Social Compact for American Education," a call to replace "test and punish" accountability built around high-stakes exams to a "support and improve" paradigm. The coalition calls for building up schools' capacity to meet the needs of all students and engaging parents and the broader community in the mission of educating youth. We at the School of Education also endorse this shift to engaging broader partnerships. We believe in accountability and measurement for the valuable formative information we get about important directions for improvement, especially when those directions lead to more and better collaborations. Recently, USDE and the President published similar sentiments as well, calling for more transparency and judicious decisions about standardized testing as one of many measures that educators consider as they plan to work together to strengthen education.

Thank you for making philanthropic gifts to the School of Education. Your gifts have helped us to build Scholarships and Programs that support Education student learning.

Once again we thank our many partners for strengthening education. We hope to see you at NJEA, booth 1517 in the Exhibit Hall.

Have you won an award in education? A grant or prize? Gotten a promotion or an entirely new job? Drop us a line and let us share your good news with our faculty, alumni, staff, current students and friends.

As always, please email keenanc@stockton.edu with your feedback.

Best wishes,
Dr. "ClauDean" Keenan

Thank you for making your gift online today and join the growing number of Education donors who are building a stronger future for our School. Thanks!

Happy Halloween from the School of Education!
