Galloway Twp., NJ – Barbara J. Morvay, an educator with more than three decades of experience, will be sworn in today to join the Board of Trustees of The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey.

Ms. Morvay, a resident of Northfield, NJ, recently retired as Superintendent of the Atlantic County Special Services School District. She has a vast background as a teacher, speech therapist, principal and business administrator and various leadership positions in education.

“Stockton is indeed fortunate to have someone as qualified as Barbara Morvay to join our Board of Trustees,” said Stockton President Dr. Herman J. Saatkamp, Jr. “She brings a wealth of relevant experience to complement the many talents already in place on our exceptional group of Trustees.”

Excluding ex officio member Dr. Saatkamp and the student representative, Ms. Morvay becomes the tenth member of the Trustees, filling a newly created position. Several years ago, the Board voted to expand its membership to up to 15 Trustees. “The goal is to provide a wider variety of Trustees and to benefit from as many points of view as possible as the College moves forward,” Dr. Saatkamp said. “As we continue on such critical programs as strategic planning, ongoing campus expansion to address our need for greater capacity, and as we work to meet the challenges of today’s economy, Barbara Morvay is an excellent addition to Stockton’s leadership.”

Ms. Morvay holds a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Master of Arts in Educational Administration from Rowan University. She holds a wide array of professional certifications including School Administrator, Assistant Superintendent for Business, Principal, Teacher of the Handicapped and Speech Therapist. She is also certified as a School Administrator Mentor.

A former member of the adjunct faculty at Stockton, Ms. Morvay was Interim Business Administrator, Acting Superintendant, Supervisor of Auxiliary Services and Principal of the Absecon Campus at the Special Services School District prior to serving as Superintendant from 2002 until her retirement last year.

She also served the Longport Board of Education as a school business administrator, financial manager and in various teaching positions. She was a member and officer (Vice President and President) of the Northfield Board of Education during the 1980s.
