Galloway Township, NJ- The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey awarded two fellowships to Stockton College students as part of its Board of Trustees Distinguished Student Fellowships program. This is an annual program to which student scholars apply and, if selected, are awarded up to $1,000 to further their studies. This program is an important part of the College's year-round emphasis on academic excellence and the fostering of effective partnerships between students, faculty and the community. Members of the selection committee consisted of faculty and staff members as well as students.

The spring 2009 winners were presented with their awards at the May 6, 2009 meeting of the Stockton College Board of Trustees. Recipients are:

- Sheila McCloy-Nuss, a Senior Arts major of North Cape May for her research on "Ancient Puebloans: The Anasazi and the Freemont."
- Patricia Michelotti, a Junior Environmental Studies major of Clifton, NJ for her project entitled "Experiences with Ecological Agriculture."

Stockton College is an innovative, residential, public liberal arts and sciences college with more than 7,000 students and is recognized as one of the top-15 public best universities/master's institutions in the north by U.S. News and World Report. Primarily an undergraduate institution, select graduate and post-baccalaureate programs are offered.
