Galloway, NJ - The Golden Age of Hollywood (1934-1965) produced a multitude of musical films that the American public could not get enough of. What made the musical so irresistible? Find out on Wednesday, June 29 from 2 - 4 p.m. at Stockton University's Manahawkin Instructional Site.

Nick Zebrowski, an operations assistant at the site, will present a discussion focusing on musical style, form and content during the classical Hollywood era, with an overview of classical Hollywood cinema.

Zebrowski graduated from Stockton with a Bachelor of Arts in Communication Studies and a concentration in Media Production. Classical Hollywood has been an area of special interest to him.

The public is invited to attend this free event at the site, 712 E. Bay Ave., Manahawkin, N.J. Call to register at (609)-626-3883.
