Galloway Township, NJ – The Stockton Center on Successful Aging (SCOSA) is presenting a scholarly research lecture, "Successful Aging: How Neighborhoods Can Help Elders and Their Families Thrive" on Monday, Oct. 28 at 6 p.m. in Meeting Room 5 in the Campus Center on the main campus here.

The lecture will be led by Rachel Pruchno, Ph.D., director of research at the New Jersey Institute for Successful Aging, Rowan University School of Osteopathic Medicine, and editor-in-chief of "The Gerontologist." Dr. Pruchno will discuss the meaning of "successful aging," and characteristics of neighborhoods that are associated with and can help promote successful aging.

Registration is not required for this event. Please contact Dr. Lisa Cox, associate professor of Social Work, for more information at Lisa.Cox@stockton.edu or (609) 652-4310. Please check the SCOSA website for updates and cancellations at stockton.edu/scosa.
