Galloway, NJ - Stockton University's Theater Department will end its spring season with a performance of Shakespeare's "The Tempest," this April in the Performing Arts Center. The production will take place from Wednesday, April 6 through Sunday, April 10.

In one of his final plays, Shakespeare offers us a brilliant, dramatic exploration of the nature of vengeance and forgiveness, illusion and enlightenment. Pamela Hendrick, head of the Theater Department, is directing the production, which will feature a lead performance by Professor of Philosophy Rodger Jackson.

"I am excited to be directing The Tempest at last," she said "I talked to Professor Rodger Jackson about my hope to direct this Shakespearean masterpiece some day with him in the role of Prospero. We finally found the right moment! We're making magic with the help of creative designers and a very talented cast!"

Join us for a fantastic journey to Prospero's magical island where his plot of revenge against his enemies unravels in the face of young love.

"The Tempest" will be performed at the Performing Arts Center of Stockton University on the main Galloway campus from April 6-10, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, and 2 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets are $10 for general admission and $8 for students and seniors with ID. Tickets may be purchased online at stockton.edu/pac or by calling the Box Office at (609)-652-9000.

The Stockton Box Office is open Monday to Friday from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. and 90 minutes before each performance.
