Computer Services

Bright Prospects

The prospect module for graduate students went live in July and the undergraduate module goes live in September. This module will bring together disparate data about potential students to a single repository allowing all offices to mine the data and reach out to prospective students. This also gives prospective students access to the College portal making it easy for them to find information about Stockton.

Going Green

In our ongoing efforts to save resources and streamline processes, two new initiatives are now in place. The Office of the President is now using the Banner Document Management suite to scan in years of old board book records providing a permanent digital archive as well as freeing up much needed space. E-Deposits are now available to students allowing them to pay Housing deposits electronically rather than writing a paper check.

Mobilizing Stockton

The latest step in mobilizing Stockton is the development of a free app for the iPhone. This app provides access to key information from the Stockton web site such as faculty and staff directory, office directory, and driving directions. Go to the iTunes store and search on "Richard Stockton College".

Staying Connected

Networking capability has been updated in many locations on campus for hard wired and wireless connections: Seaview (2nd and 3rd floors), Carnegie Library, Parkway Building, J-Wing, N-Wing and Manahawkin.

Blackboard Learn 9.1 is Live

The official cutover from Blackboard CE8 to Blackboard Learn 9.1 took place on May 8, 2012. The upgrade to the learning management system provides full functionality for online instruction and offers new features promoting student engagement, early warning system for student grades, a wide variety of built in course templates for instructors, and system level reporting tools for assessment.

New and Updated Instructional Facilities

Stockton's Manahawkin site is ready for instruction. It is equipped with two electronic classrooms as well as three public access computer stations.

The renovation of upper and lower J-wing includes two classrooms that are dedicated to the School of Education equipped with interactive whiteboards and lecture capture systems. The Math and Writing Centers in lower J-wing include a 16 seat computer lab in this space with projection capabilities and a two small group instruction spaces with projectors for math and writing. For employees, the Human Resources conference room will be equipped with projection and presentation capabilities for meetings and training sessions.

In the West Quad building WQ, a new electronic classroom has been created for the Occupational Therapy program. In H-wing two electronic classrooms (H113 and H114) now occupy the old Art Gallery space. C103, the last traditional classroom on campus, has been converted into an electronic classroom. Blackboard is the web-based course management system software used by the College. This software is used by faculty to create instructional course materials and facilitates distributed learning. The bid waiver increase is for adding an additional module to the Blackboard learning system. This module allows us to offer electronic portfolios, add customized features, create affinity groups within Blackboard according to characteristics or roles (e.g., freshman, Art History majors), and provide additional opportunities for engagement. Pricing for the Community Module was not included in the original waiver request because it was awaiting funding. This module was funded because of the need to provide student-level documentation of Essential Learning Outcomes, a key Academic Affairs initiative and funding was just approved this fiscal year. This is a sole source provider. (Reference: N.J.S.A.18A:64-56 (a) [19])
